Keystone Community Education Council

“Education and Training – Where, When, and How YOU Need It!”
sums up what the Keystone Community Education Council (Keystone CEC, KCEC) is all about.

Over the past few years opportunities and acceptance for web-based learning have increased dramatically. With the advantages of a wide range of programs sometimes not available locally, the ability to work at home through internet access, and increased flexibility working around your current schedule, online learning is becoming increasingly popular, especially for adults in rural areas.

The Keystone Community Education Council proudly offers the world's most comprehensive collection of online courses. By obtaining global partnerships with the top companies and authors, we provide self-study courses with open enrollment in nearly every subject imaginable.

Easy to search, register and learn. Anywhere, anytime learning.
